STATION-HOUSE.—A woman named Susan Baker was before the Police Court, yesterday morning, charged with disorderly conduct, and sentenced to the City Prison for a term of ten days. After she had been placed in the cell at the station-house, prior to her removal to prison, she made an effort to destroy herself by cutting her throat with a penknife. Some prisoners who were watching her movements gave the alarm, and she was disarmed before she succeeded in accomplishing her purpose.

We do not wonder that even an habitue of the City Prison should prefer death by her own hand to an incarceration for even the short space of ten days. It is bad enough to confine men within its dismal walls, for petty misdemeanors, but infinitely worse when the penalty of the law is thus inflicted upon women. In most cases the administration of what is termed justice is little less than the application of that cruelty which is prompted by revenge, and the punishment seems to have as little effect toward removing the evil, as an cellpae of the sun has toward destroying its light. The world never has dethe evil, as an ectipse of the sun has toward destroying its light. The world never has de-rived any benefit from its prisons, and society will be compelled to wait until doomsday for a reformation, if it is to be brought about Gaines, and E. A. Harris.

R. M. Corwine addressed a welcoming speech to Mr. Garley, in which he argued the necessity of ousting from power officials who had after their election, betrayed those who had confided in them. He believed that the people would not be found wanting in the present emergency. Mr. Buchanan had administered the Government solely and oxclusively for the benefit of his satellites, and it was the duty of the people to hurl him clusively for the benefit of his satellites, and it was the duty of the people to hurl him from power, and send him to private life covered by political disgrace. The Democratic party had ever disregarded the rights of the free masses, and they would continue to do so if kept in place. He complimented Mr. Gurley, as having been a faithful Representative transmitter.

Mr. Gurley, as having been a faithful Representative, true, in every respect, to the pledges he made before his election. He had originated the Printing Bill, and procured its passage. He had likewise obtained an appropriation for the enlargement of the Portland Canal, which, more than any thing else, would benefit the city of Cincinnation and the West.

Mr. Gurley said that this reception, by a vast multitude of friends, tendered through one of his intimate associates, filled his mind with a gratitude that words must fail to express. He regarded this demonstration as a tribute to those political principles which he had endeavored to defend. He had tried to discharge his duties, and if he had failed, it was not from any intention to neglect them.

discharge his duties, and if he had falled, it was not from any intention to neglect them. The feelings of attachment which had sprung up between himself and his constituents, during two hard-fought political campaigns, were deep, and, on his part, could never be eradicated.

He had visited, in company with a number of merchants, the Portland Canal, and was surprised at the obstacles to navigation there presented, and at once resolved to make an effort to obtain its enlargement; and, accordingly, as soon as the House was organized, he ingly, as soon as the House was organized, he introduced a joint resolution with a view to that object, which passed both Houses. He considered this a duty, and he would have considered this a duty, and he would have been recreant to the interest of his constituents had he done less. One thousand men would soon be at work, and in two years the enlargement would be completed.

In reference to the public printing, he said that at an early day after his arrival in Washington, he became convinced that a vast amount of the corruption at that place, arose from the filse system by which our public printing was done. The profits were so immense that Wendell had spent, in electioneering purposes, $130,000; and this enormous sum was but a portion of the net proceeds he had received.

He referred to the disgraceful struggles which have occurred every two years, for the position of Public Printer. The present bill enables the Government to do its gwn work and save at least $150,000 annually. When the bill was introduced, it was opposed by all the spoilsmen; the Constitution, the States, the Star and the New York Tribune were against it.

States, the Star and the New York Tribune were against it.

Just before the close of the last session of Congress, he (Gurley) introduced a resolution reducing the price of printing 40 per cent., and it is said that General Bowman actually cried when he heard of its passage.

The President wanted the whole subject placed in the hand of the Secretary of the placed in the hands of the Secretary of the Interior, and a joint resolution to that effect passed the Senate, but it failed in the House. The original bill was then finally signed by the President.

The Recent Starsing Affray near Whitewater Canal. —Our readers probably remember that the police found a man, two or three weeks ago, named Charles Rickey, lying on the bank of the Whitewater Canal, in an apparently moribund condition. Upon being taken up and partially restored, he stated that he had been stabbed by William Stacy. His wound was quite a severe one. Democratic party were disunionists, and were in favor of a revolution the instant the Republicans of the North exercised their rights as men and American citizens. Every Northern Democrat voted for Mr. Hamilton, of Texas, for Speaker, who declared that the dissolution of the Union had already commenced; and they, therefore, were as responsible for disunion sentiments as Mr. Hamilton himself.

ton himself. The Republicans would never have deserted Sherman, except to prevent the election of Mr. Smith, of North Carolina, which event Sherman, except to prevent the election of Mr. Smith, of North Carolina, which event seemed imminent.

In reference to the Presidential election, he said there existed but one opinion in Washington City, and that was that Lincoln would be elected. There was an irrepressible animosity between the two wings of the Democratic party, and the only fight now was, which party shall take possession of the organization henceforth.

Breckinridge will continue to gain, and Douglas to lose; the old political rats well know this, and will desert the sinking man. The Diminutive Giant can not carry a State. He then paid a handsome compliment to Mr. Lincoln, with whom he was well acquainted, pronouncing him in every respect an honest and worthy man.

He referred to the Kansas question, saying that that distracted Territory was kept out of the Union because it prohibited slavery. Democrats now believe that the whole Union is based and stands on the heads of negroes. The Homestead Bill had likewise been defeated, first by a Democratic Senate and then by a Presidential veto.

He had no political aspirations, but so long as he remained in Congress he would be the servant of the people.

The following resolutions were then unanimously passed:

Witnards, In the indement of this meeting of citizens of the people.

mously passed:

WHEREAS, In the judgment of this meeting of citizens of the Second Congressional District of this, the Hon, John A. Gurley has, during the late session of Congress, discharged his duty to his constituents and to the country with signal skillip, Relitivant and to the country with signal skillip, Relitivand ancess, therefore expressing as we believe, the sentiments of a great majority of those whom he has represented at Washington; it is Resided, That while we hall with pleasure the return of Mr. Gurley to his home, and extend to him in his character as a good citizen and valued friend, asportaneous and hearty welcome, we desire also to declare our satisfaction that in so brief a puriod of gublic service he has acquired an envisible reputation as an influential working member of Congress; and that by his congretic and well-directed efforts he introduction of a complainte so much toward the introduction of the great body of his constituents.

The Bod Ordersance—Mone Vigitance

THE DOG CREINANCE—More VIGILANCE DEMANDED.—Notwithstanding the ordinance requires all dogs to be muzzied, or kept up, for ninety days, a large number are constantly running the streets. Indeed there appears to be no effort made to enforce the law. We at one time took the trouble to count the number of unnumzied dogs we met between our office and Sycamore-street, on Fourth, and found no less than seven; and on another occasion, on Fifth-street, between Broadway and Pike, we counted four.

Man Severett Beaten and Robbes — A man named John L. Thomas, residing on Court-street, near Cutter, while on his way home night before last, about one o'clock, when near the corner of Ninth and John was knocked down by a couple of ruffians who approached him from behind. The blow was so severe that Thomas was completely stunned, and forsome momentalid not recover his senses. In the meantime the acoundrels had riffed his pockets of a watch and about thirteen dollars in money and made their escape. The wounded man has not yet entirely recovered from the effects of the blow, and it is with considerable difficulty that he Kruse was fined $28 yesterday, by Mayor part very judiciously and with considerable spirit.

Mons. Philippe, the tence of the troupe, is exceedingly awkward—as most tence are and is compelled to resort to the falsette very often, and the change from the chest to the head register is quite unpleasant.

Madame Philippe destroyed our ideal of the violeteyed "Alice," but she sang the music, or at least, that part of it which was not cut out of the opera, quite cleverly. The concerted pieces were not well readered, for the voices would not blend, and even the beautiful harmony of Meyerbeer was destroyed in the aircompt to render them sympathetic.

Business—as it always is in the middle of Julywas dull on the Landing yesterday; but it was quite fair for the season. Freights were scarce, and offered very sparingly at previous prices.

Capt. E. Lanone, President of the New Orleans and Bayon Sara Mail Line, has contracted at Louisville for a low-pressure passenger packet to ply deligh between New Orleans and Bayon Sara. She is to cost about $125,000, to take the place of the D. F. Kenner, and in point of speed, degrance, and safety, it is said, will surpass all that have gone before her. The A. B. Chambers, at St. Louis, has been sold at Sheriffs sails to Capt. G. W. Bowman and Mr. P. M. Chouteans, for $15,000.

Yesterday's Louisville Convier observes:

LAW REPORT.

DEPOSIT OF WILLS .- The Wills of Louis

DEPOSIT OF WILLS.—The Wills Of Louis Eichler and Geo. Drosch were deposited in this Court for probate.

ADMITTED.—The Will of Hansen L. Penn, of Brown County, Ohio, was admitted to probate. The testator bequeathed $15,000 cash to his wife, and all the rents and profits of two houses on Catherine-street, Cincinnati, and the rents of two or three large farms in Brown and Clermont Counties, the children of the testator to take the fee of the real estate on attaining their majority.

GUARDIAN'S FINAL ACCOUNT.—Mary Elstner, appointed guardian of her children, filed a final account current as to her son Charles. Insantry.—A man named J. Curlee, was found to be insane, and an order was made out for his removal to the Lunatic Asylum. He showed fight when attempted to be taken in charge, and was with difficulty conveyed to the institution. A young woman, whose name we are requested not to publish, was also taken out.

SUBSTANTIAL AID FOR GARBALDI.—Any contributions toward the cause of the Italians' who are now making heroic efforts for the liberation of their land, will be gratefully received at Suire, Eckstein & Co.'s, North-west corner of Fourth and Vine, and at A. McDonald's, No. 56 West Fourth-street. The Committee will also call upon our citizens and mittee will also call upon our citizens and receive any contributions in aid of the fund.

A CHILD RUN OVER AND SEVERELY IN-JURID.—A child about four years of age, daughter of Mrs. Aiken, residing on Central-avenue, near Fourth, was run over yes-terday evening by a dray, and very severely injured. Her head was very badly bruised, and her collar-bone and left arm broken, but notwithstanding her wounds, it is thought she will ultimately recover.

Man Found in the River.—A German named Bernard Kari was found in the Ohio River, opposite Delhi Township, yesterday, and an inquest held upon him by the Coroner, whose jury returned a verdict in accordance with the supposed facts: that he had been a deck-hand and fallen into the river from the steamer on which he was employed.

CHEAP TABLES.—We call attention to the fact that Jno. H. Deters, No. 53 West Fourthstreet, has introduced "cheap tables," on which will be kept a fine assortment of boy's boots and shoes which will be sold at cost prices. Call in and get a bargain.

NEWPORT NEWS.

ANOTHER Disenausers. Figur.—A disgrace-ful fight occurred between Sheriff Heim and Dr. Foster yesterday afternoon. The parties had been arguing politics, until they became so excited as to engage in a fight. Mr. Foster is a Breckisridge man, and attempted to impress his own convictions—If not on the mind, at least on the body of Mr. Heim, who supports Douglas, by sundry weighty, though not convincing, arguments. The Doctor was fined $25 and costs for a similar offense a short time ago, and we hope the Mayor will repeat his sentence.

Hannas Conrus.—Michael Elhart, whose case we noticed yesterday, was released, and will return with his parents to-day.

Robe Housen.—A room occupied by Mr. J. Stein, clerk in Laird's book-store, was entered, a day or two since, and robbed of five dollars in money, the only valuables that could be easily carried away. The this was seen to pass out the back window, but he succeeded in making his escape before being identified.

Monetary and Commercial.

The business of Third-street, though quite stock for the season—better indeed than ordinary in July—is rather dult, and very little alteration occurs from day to day in Planetial affairs.
